CREDENTIALING DILEMMA

Healthcare experts agree that an organization's credentialing system is the foundation of quality patient care.

Trained, experienced, credentialing professionals are a significant asset to any organization and are in high demand. Unfortunately the demand for these qualified individuals far exceeds the supply, and organizations are faced with:

Having no alternative but to hire individuals with little to no previous training/experience

Uncertainty as to where to obtain the necessary staff training for this critical role that affects patient care quality and safety.

THE SOLUTION

CREDENTIALING BASICS: A 4.5 day intensive course focused on the basic components of hospital credentialing and privileging for individuals with little to no previous training or experience (or as a refresher course), including:

- Step by step processes for initial application and reappointment (including AHPs)
- Privileging processes, competency evaluation, and peer review
- Federal requirements/accreditation standards
- Committee/Meeting management
- Due Process/Fair Hearing

BEYOND THE BASICS: A 4 day in-depth training for experienced individuals, addressing current credentialing and privileging issues using problem solving alternatives and project management techniques for best practice including:

- Practitioner recruitment challenges
- Onboarding and privileging challenges
- Implementing and monitoring competence (FPPE, OPPE, other)
- Technology innovations/electronic processes
- Avoiding negligent credentialing and more...
